

In response to many requests from teachers and librarians who had conflicts the last time we offered this;
we are repeating this workshop!

ENGAGING STUDENTS WITH COLLABORATIVE STRATEGIC READING

Do you want to energize your instruction? Do you want to motivate reluctant readers with a research-based system that has been proven to work with teens?

With Collaborative Strategic Reading students read together in teams with specific objectives. They help each other become better readers by fulfilling defined roles: the Director, the Expert, the Texter, and the Detective.

Come to this workshop to try these strategies for yourself as you take on one of the roles in a demonstration lesson.

*Facilitators: Todd Diehl, Nimitz English Teacher
Natalie Sunde, Nimitz Librarian*

*Tuesday, February 2nd
Nimitz Library 4:15—5:15 pm*

Snacks and door prizes

*No preregistration required—
Sign in at workshop for Distributed Learning Credit*

